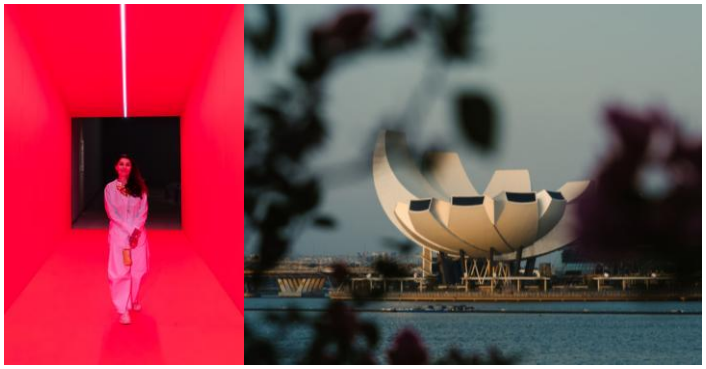
ES DEVLIN MAKES SOUTHEAST ASIAN DEBUT AT ARTSCIENCE MUSEUM FOR SINGAPORE ART WEEK 2027

The world-renowned artist takes centre stage with spectacular installations and immersive environments in a major retrospective exhibition



Singapore (11 November 2026) – ArtScience Museum is set to host the imaginative worlds of British artist and designer Es Devlin, as it welcomes the Southeast Asian premiere of a major retrospective exhibition celebrating one of the defining creative forces of our time. Opening on 23 January 2027 as a key anchor of Singapore Art Week 2027, the Es Devlin exhibition brings together nine monumental installations and immersive environments, offering an expansive encounter with three decades of Devlin's genre-defying practice. Through sculpture, light, sound and film, the exhibition becomes a place to experience rather than simply observe, where the boundaries between artwork, stage and audience dissolve and visitors become part of the experience.

Devlin is one of the most innovative British artists and designers working today. She is globally renowned, with a wide-ranging practice that began in theatre, dance, opera and music and is now experienced by millions of people in some of the world's most prominent museums, galleries, opera houses and arenas. She received the Critics Circle Award in the Arts, London Design Medal, multiple Olivier, Tony, Emmy awards and a Commander of the Order of the British Empire (CBE). She has also conceived Olympic Ceremonies, Super Bowl

Halftime shows, tours for the world's most celebrated musicians and is a fellow of the Royal Academy of Music and Visiting Professor at the University of Oxford.

"Es Devlin's work shows how art, design and technology can bring people together in powerful shared experiences, from intimate theatres to the world's largest stages. ArtScience Museum is proud to present this exhibition as a key anchor of Singapore Art Week 2027. The exhibition offers audiences a rare look beyond the spectacle at the curiosity, ideas and craft behind her practice, and reflects our commitment to bringing the world's most compelling creative voices to Singapore," said Angelita Teo, Vice President of Attractions at Marina Bay Sands.

"It's a profound privilege to be invited to share my practice with audiences in Singapore and to respond to the extraordinary geometry of ArtScience Museum," said Es Devlin.

Spanning monumental installations and more intimate, contemplative works, the exhibition invites visitors into Devlin's creative world, exploring ideas of perception, memory, emotion and collective imagination. Central to the exhibition is Devlin's idea of the audience as a "temporary society", formed when people come together in one space to share a cultural experience. Moving between works rooted in her own memories and inspirations and immersive installations conceived as collective encounters, the exhibition reveals the remarkable breadth of her practice and her enduring interest in how we see, remember and connect with one another and the world around us. At ArtScience Museum, the Singapore presentation takes on a character of its own, with works responding to the Museum's distinctive architecture and offering new ways to experience Devlin's practice, including the Asia debuts of National Portrait and Memory Palace.

The exhibition is a highlight of Art Takes, Marina Bay Sands' signature celebration of art and culture during Singapore Art Week 2027. Anchored by ART SG, Southeast Asia's premier contemporary art fair, Art Takes brings together art, culture, fashion, design and gastronomy through a vibrant line-up of experiences across the integrated resort, placing Marina Bay Sands at the heart of Singapore's cultural conversation.

Es Devlin runs from 23 January to 10 August 2027 at ArtScience Museum. Tickets to the exhibition will be available for purchase at all Marina Bay Sands box offices and online from mid-December onwards. For more information, please visit https://www.marinabaysands.com/art-takes.
