

Marina Bay Sands to launch Makansutra Masters Makansutra and Koufu begin flagship collaboration to deliver regional food experience

Singapore (6 November 2009) – Two Singapore culinary icons will launch their flagship “Makansutra Masters – a Makansutra/Koufu experience” at Marina Bay Sands®.

The concept will weave local and regional food culture into a multisensory dining tour of Southeast Asia, featuring masters of regional cuisine to deliver a totally new dining experience. The regional masters will be from Indonesia, Malaysia, Thailand and Vietnam, as well as Singapore and have all been rated highly by Makansutra Food Guide.

The operators are two well-known names in food in Singapore: Makansutra, a name synonymous with promoting Asian food culture for 12 years; and Koufu, one of the largest operators of food courts and cafes in Singapore. Their combined strengths will bring Marina Bay Sands some of the best Asian food in the region.

“Makansutra Masters at Marina Bay Sands will bring together the best regional street and comfort cuisine and the best regional chefs. We couldn’t think of a better place for our exciting flagship Makansutra/Koufu experience,” said Mr. KF Seetoh, Founder and CEO of Makansutra.

“This collaboration will be truly unique. It will offer visitors the best mass dining concept in Southeast Asia. Makansutra Masters is the ‘Picasso’ we always wanted to create and Marina Bay Sands is the premium location to launch this fantastic new concept,” said Mr. Pang Lim, Managing Director, Koufu Pte Ltd.

The design will play an important role, incorporating the local themes and ethnic flavors of the region. It will feature a “culinary stage” for cooking demonstrations and other food events.

“This is a great concept for us and we believe visitors to Marina Bay Sands will love tasting the best regional cuisine in Southeast Asia,” said Mr. David Sylvester, Vice President Retail Asia, Las Vegas Sands Corp. “This demonstrates the appeal of Marina Bay Sands Shoppes® and the unique experience visitors will have with us.”

Makansutra was founded in 1997 by photojournalist K.F. Seetoh. He won the Singapore Tourism Board Special Recognition award for his role as a “Food Ambassador”. Makansutra’s business interests include publishing its own best selling Asian food guides and mobile content, producing a Makansutra TV show, operating and managing four food courts and organizing food events, including advising the Singapore Food Festival.

Koufu is one of the largest operators of food court and cafes with 52 outlets in Singapore and two in Indonesia. Founder Pang Lim has been named Entrepreneur of the Year and won the E50 Award. He began as a hawker over two decades ago.

When completed, Marina Bay Sands will feature large and flexible convention and exhibition facilities, approximately 2,500 luxury hotel rooms, the breathtaking rooftop Sands SkyPark®, a museum, a casino, the Paiza Club for premium players, theatres, entertainment, an outdoor event plaza, and unparalleled shopping and dining.
