A Stellar Lineup for an Unforgettable Weekend

On 11 April, Dimitri Vegas, who currently holds the No.3 spot on the revered annual DJ Mag top 100 DJs list with his brother as hit electronic duo Dimitri Vegas & Like Mike, will be performing at MARQUEE for the first time, bringing his masterful prowess in big-room sound and unparalleled showmanship to the fore. As one half of the anointed 'Kings of Tomorrowland', he has set the world stage on fire with countless headline performances for festivals such as EDC Las Vegas and Ultra Music Festival. An undisputed force in the electronic music scene, he continues to push boundaries with his diverse discography and impressive body of collaborative work that includes studio time with artists like David Guetta, Martin Garrix and Wiz Khalifa.

The celebration amps up with Steve Aoki, legendary DJ and producer, who will return to MARQUEE Singapore on 12 April for a hotly anticipated pulse-pounding live performance. As one of pop music's most tireless multi-hyphenates and founder of the taste-making record label Dim Mak, the two-time Grammy-nominated maestro behind earworms like "Just Hold On", "Waste It On Me" and "Pursuit of Happiness (Remix)", promises guests a dizzying whirlwind of sounds, threaded with rollicking frenzy. From BTS and Linkin Park to Maluma, the pioneer of the electronic music movement, Steve Aoki, has redefined the live performance experience with his genre-defying collaborations pumping through sound systems and energizing dance floors.

MARQUEE Singapore's Celebrations Continue with Lineup of Global Electronic Music Titans

In the lead-up to MARQUEE's anniversary weekend, the nightclub will on 3 April welcome Blastoyz, a performer who has commanded the stages of Tomorrowland, EDC Vegas, and Ultra Music Festival, and is known for his powerful bassline grooves and heart-stirring melodies. On 18 April, Glasgow-based producer Will Atkinson will deliver futuristic soundscapes encompassing a sonic exploration of cutting-edge trance, pumping techno, and everything in between.

The party momentum will continue on 26 April, with Parisian DJ and producer Trym set to take over MARQUEE, masterfully blending the raw intensity of fast techno with the highs of hard trance.

Closing out the month on 30 April, the Eve of Labour Day, will be none other than Norwegian hardstyle duo Da Tweekaz, renowned for their unapologetically infectious melodies and playful stage presence.

Six Years of Iconic Nightlife

Since its grand opening in 2019, MARQUEE Singapore has solidified its reputation as Asia's premier nightlife destination with its state-of-the-art sound, cutting-edge production and spectacular set design. Inspired by amusement parks and the energy of outdoor music festivals, the venue boasts elements such as an iconic eight-armed Ferris wheel and a spiralling three-storey slide.
