At ArtScience Museum, families will be enchanted by the vibrant displays of SingaPop!, an immersive exhibition curated by Dick Lee that celebrates Singapore's music, fashion, food and cultural identity. Parents can take a nostalgic trip down memory lane, reliving memories dear to them such as iconic National Day Parade songs or their favourite Singaporean films and TV series. Meanwhile, young explorers can uncover the mosaic of stories that form Singapore's cultural heartbeat through interactive installations.

While SingaPop! provides a platform for families to trace the nation's past, Another World Is Possible invites families to look forward with optimism and wonder. Offering a blueprint for worlds yet to come, this exhibition blends cinema, design, architecture and literature where everyone – from curious children to thoughtful adults – can dream and co-create.

Beyond the galleries, Sampan Rides offers a leisurely sail through Singapore's colourful past to its glittering present. Inspired by the small wooden skiffs that once filled the Singapore River, this relaxing ride in The Shoppes gives families a refreshing pause amidst gentle ripples of the Canal.

At Digital Light Canvas by teamLab, families enter a fantastical paradise of pure light and colour. Parents and children alike will be mesmerised as playful animals and blooming flowers are brought to life in dazzling displays of movement and light. The interactive dreamscape sparks creativity across generations, and families can transform their drawings into uniquely personal memorabilia to bring home as treasured keepsakes.

Available from 3 October to 31 October, this Children's Day treat offers a valuable opportunity for families to bond and forge unforgettable moments together. To redeem the two complimentary Child tickets, visitors simply need to present their purchased Adult ticket at the entry point of participating attractions.
